

Synthetix – System's concept

Operation

Synthetix includes profiles vault. The system works as a plugin/extension on popular web browsers. Once the browser is launched Synthetix is automatically enabled and constantly working in the background.

An initial Vault Unlocking process is required to activate the system.

Once the user logs into various accounts (For example: Twitter, Facebook, Financial institutions, health records, and social media sites), Synthetix identifies a login mechanism and asks the user's permission to activate synthetic profiling.

Upon the user's permission, Synthetix stores the page's details and creates a synthetic profile on-the-fly. From now on, with any future user's visit, Synthetix remembers the site's details and automatically suggests using a synthetic profile.

The user has the choice of activating Synthetix on selected websites.

Synthetix remembers the web page and its profile.

Example 1 – Twitter Account

The image shows a Twitter sign-in interface. At the top is the Twitter bird logo. Below it is the heading "Sign in to Twitter". There are three main sign-in options: "Sign in as" with a dropdown arrow and a Google icon, "Sign in with Apple" with the Apple logo, and a "Phone, email, or username" input field. The input field contains the text "USER2@SYNTETIX.COM" and a red octopus icon. Below the input field is a black "Next" button. At the bottom is a "Forgot password?" link and a "Don't have an account? Sign up" link.
